Larocca In A Squeaker

Trustees easily reelected

BY STEPHEN J. KOTZ

Trustee James Larocca ousted incumbent Mayor Kathleen Mulcahy in Sag Harbor Village voting on Tuesday. Mr. Larocca received 379 votes to Ms. Mulcahy's 357 after a bitter campaign in which Mr. Larocca attacked the incumbent's performance on an almost daily basis, while Ms. Mulcahy sought to reassure voters progress was being made on a number of key issues despite the disruptions caused by the coronavirus pandemic.

Trustee Aidan Corish, who was seeking his third term, led all candidates with 572 votes, while incumbent Trustee Robert Plumb received 497 votes to win his second two-year term. Challenger Bayard

Fenwick received 250 votes. About 30 people gathered in the Sag Harbor Firehouse after the polls closed. There was a muted response as poll worker Diane Schiavoni silently filled in the results on a white board, showing that Mr. Larocca, who has previously served as trustee for six years, had bested his rival by just 22 votes. Ms. Mulcahy's supporters gasped, while Mr. Larocca's applauded softly.

Mr. Larocca kissed his wife, Dale, on the cheek and hugged Mayor Mulcahy when she came over to congratulate him.

Mr. Larocca acknowledged that it was a tight race and thanked his supporters for their votes. In an interview

One Vote Passes Budget

Voters OK spending plan

BY STEPHEN J. KOTZ

The Bridgehampton School District has been living close to the edge. A month after its proposed $20.66 million budget fell by a handful of votes, it was approved by a one-vote margin in a revote on Tuesday.

Because the budget pierced the New York State tax cap in both cases, a super majority of 60 percent of voters was needed. The district achieved that
